Heidi admits her market leadership position is no accident and takes pride in her approach to taking care of pets in their unique but familiar surroundings, their home! Heidi has successfully developed and implemented a well-conceived business strategy that is grounded in pet sensitivities.

Heidi says Coddled Creatures attends to the needs of their “In-Home Pets” and their “parents” as she calls them, 7 days a week, 365 days a year. Heidi has amassed a unique blend of unique programs and pet caring services that once again, demonstrate her passion for bringing innovation to her “In-Home” Pet Care philosophy. Her Information Technology component is state of the art, and many view Coddled Creatures programs as standard bearers of the “In-Home” pet care industry. Essential pet sensitive information for medications, personal needs specifications and home instructions including parent/owner facts are customized for each “In-Home Pet” and downloaded into Coddled Creatures unique Pet Profiles System. It is another state of the art component of Heidi's approach to providing professional pet care services for her “In-Home Pets” and their “parents.” Now there is a personal side to Heidi that further illustrates why those who know her best, refer to her as “a Successfull Business Woman of Today and a Woman for Today”. Heidi has carved out a very interesting career background and meshed it with some fascinating hobbies.

After obtaining an Associate Degree in Aviation Science, she launched her professional career as a Certified Flight Instructor. Heidi taught people to fly single engine aircraft, bringing them through their Private Pilot license. From there she went on to become, would you believe, a Commercial Airline Pilot flying for commuter airlines. After many years of flying, Heidi sensed her pilot profession had become routine so she began attending night school to obtain her Bachelor of Science in Business Administration with a major in Accounting. When the President of a busy company sought her out, she embarked on a second career returning to the high end of the accounting profession as a Comptroller, a position she held for eight years. When the President retired in 1994, she decided to pursue yet one more passion of her Life. While growing up, Heidi developed a deep respect and sensitivity for animals, and animal rights. Heidi summoned her entrepreneurial spirit and established Coddled Creatures in order to fulfill her lifelong dream of working for and with animals. The rest is history for this energetic lady. Over the years, Coddled Creatures has allowed her and her associates to care for dogs, cats, birds and many other creatures both big and small, and she shares her home with her three magnificent felines, Rembrandt, Granny and Blonco.

During her free time, which she admits is limited these days, Heidi also has some interesting hobbies which adds to her persona as a “woman for today.” Heidi is an avid yoga enthusiast and a serious student plying skills to the art of Kickboxing! Her other less physical hobbies include spending quality time with her own pets, the arts, traveling, reading novels and volunteering. Heidi has been a member of the Mahwah Juvenile Conference Committee since September of 2000. Heidi says she believes it's important to trust in your instincts, stay focused on your beliefs and act on your passions. Heidi admits she cannot imagine a more agreeable way to make a living than giving TLC to animals of all kinds. She feels very fortunate to be surrounded by a staff of caring, professional Pet Care Specialists, Client Services Representatives and a special Information Technology component. Additionally she reflects on how she attributes much of Coddled
